

A Moving Guide For Pets

TripsWithPets knows how challenging moving to a new home and a new town can be, especially when the move involves a beloved family pet. In order to meet the needs of families facing this difficult transition, TripsWithPets offers Pets on-the-Move: A Moving Guide for Pets. This free on-line moving guide is jam-packed with everything a family needs to know in order to successfully move with their pet.

Pets On-the-Move offers the following helpful information and resources:

• Pet Relocation Service: If the move is international or cross-country, or if flying or driving with your pet just isn't an option, a pet relocation service may be a wise choice. This section provides information about securing a reputable company as well as helpful tips to narrow down which one to choose.

* Airline Pet Policies: There are a lot of regulations regarding flying with pets. This section displays a list of airlines and directly links to that specific airline's policies.

* Search by Route: Due to a massive request for this service, users can simply enter the departure and destination cities and a list of all the pet friendly hotels (and other pet friendly properties) within a three or five mile radius of the route are returned. This is perfect for those families driving to their new homes and need to know where they can stop with their pets along the way.

* Tips, tips, and more tips: There are a hundred and one things to remember when moving with a pet. The guide covers everything from what to prepare for before the move to advice on making sure furry family members are comfortable in their new surroundings.

* Pet Moving Essentials: You name it...pet travel crates and kennels, pet seat belts, vehicle pet barriers and pet car seats...Pets On-the-Move includes all the pet travel supplies you'll need.

This guide is perfect not only for the families who are moving, but for real estate agents, moving companies, local chambers of commerce—any organization that's involved in the moving process and wants to better serve their clients!
